

STATIONERY

A STEADY STREAM
of stationery and office supplies flows from the store to our customers, and another stream replenishes the stock. This is kept up to a condition where betterment is impossible.

STATIONERY
from the best manufacturers in each line fills our shelves, and little money will transfer the ownership. The proof of the value is in the quality.

AGAINST RECIPROCITY.

E. S. Draper Does Not Think It Could Be of Any Aid to New England.

Boston, June 21.—Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, yesterday gave his views on the tariff and reciprocity in the form of a type-written statement.

He says flatly that he is not in favor of Canadian reciprocity, because he does not consider it feasible; he regards it as "entirely impractical and academic."

As for tariff revision, however, Mr. Draper declares it to be an entirely different question, upon which Republicans and even strong protectionists may have divergent views. He is willing to leave the settlement of the question whether there should be a revision in the near future to the senators and representatives in Congress.

He says he doesn't believe in the sacredness of schedules, but, on the other hand, thinks the Dingley tariff "has been and is a most excellent law." He will not be opposed to whatever action Congress should decide to be wise; "and," he says, "if a revision should be decided on I should be entirely satisfied with that decision."

Mr. Draper does not state specifically whether he personally favors an early revision or believes it to be wise, and he depreciates bringing the issue into a contest for Lieutenant-Governor as irrelevant, remarking that "if the candidacy was for a member of Congress, it would be a different matter."

SAID, "YOU ARE DEAD."

Veteran Found "Widow" Had Been Drawing His Pension.

Washington, D. C., June 21.—The pension office is watching the outcome of a case now pending in the federal court in Bangor, Me., involving a fraud against the pension laws. It is that of a woman who for years drew a pension as the widow of a soldier, the soldier afterward applying for a pension for himself, only to be confronted with evidence that he was dead.

Mrs. Ellen M. Sargent is the accused woman. She originally applied for a pension as the widow of Charles L. Sargent, but was informed that no soldier of that name had served in the regiment designated, but there had been one of the name of Charles H. Sargent. The claimant then advised the authorities that she had made a mistake in the initials, perfected her claim as the widow of Charles H. Sargent, and was placed on the pension rolls.

When Charles H. Sargent filed an application for a pension, he was informed that he was legally dead and that the government had proof of it. Sargent finally succeeded and Mrs. Sargent was arrested.

CY PERKINS IS DEAD.

Ragged New Hampshire Millionaire the Victim of an Accident.

Nashua, N. H., June 21.—L. Kilburn Perkins, commonly known as Cy Perkins, is dead at his home in Brookline. He was one of the most interesting characters in New England. He lived in a primitive manner for many years, and always drove to town behind a pair of oxen.

He was known to be worth more than $1,000,000 and yet in personal appearance he resembled a beggar. The direct cause of Mr. Perkins' death was an accident in which he had his hip broken several weeks ago. Mr. Perkins was over eighty-five years old, although he had the appearance of a man much younger.

LETTER OF WARNING.

Brattleboro, Vt., June 17, 1905.

To the People of Vermont:

We are again approaching Independence Day and must expect that the usual explosives will be in the hands of the small boy and the youth nearing manhood. What will the harvest be? The noise is a source of annoyance to the sick and feeble, often producing very serious results. Your attention was called to this matter last year. In previous years there had been a large mortality from tetanus, the result of wounds from the blank cartridges. By reason that the public were better informed of the dangers attending this class of injuries, the deaths from tetanus last year was reduced in the whole country 75 per cent, but the deaths from other explosives was increased 50 per cent.

The press have urged a reform in the celebration of this day; for the safety of our children we would most earnestly endorse a change, which shall do away with fire crackers, dangerous fire works and the careless firing of cannons and other firearms. The increase in mortality last year was from wounds by these explosives. If a wound is received from either the blank cartridge of a toy pistol, or other explosive, no matter how trivial, do not temporize with it, call a surgeon at once and have it dressed in a thoroughly antiseptic manner. The period of incubation of the tetanus bacilli is twelve days. Before the expiration of that time the tetanus antitoxine should be given as a preventative.

HENRY D. HOLTON,
Secretary.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I had 'cured' my ailment. Scouring mass left me. Judge our doctor's verdict the remainder of the same length of a tape-worm that had been saprophytic my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. This testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."—Chas. Blackstock, 1212 Twenty-First Place, West Philadelphia, Pa.
